CHARLOTTE COLBERT

Charlotte Colbert is a Franco/British artist and filmmaker currently based in London and best known for her surreal, dark imagery.

Her work has been shown at major international fairs such as Hong Kong, Basel, Miami and London, and described as an 'exploration of the human mind' (Vogue). Her photographic work is strongly anchored within the language of film and storytelling, with philosophical undertones and often plays on questions of time, space and identity.

Colbert has recently been developing large-scale sculptures, a series which form a contemporary and new approach to portraiture. Made of Corten steel/rusty metal and fitted with slick TV screens which display black and white moving footage, the works engender a meditative experience where the viewer and the subject share a moment of close intimacy.

Selected shows include From Selfie to Self-Expression (Saatchi Gallery, London, 2017) and Benefit Supervisor Sleeping (Unit 9, London, 2018).
